As Part of the Series, “From Principles to Practice: Engaging Underserved Communities for Multilevel Impact”

Putting these Principles into Practice: Hear from Two Successful Community Engagement Pilot Grantee Partnerships

Join us on Wednesday, October 23rd to hear from two successfully-funded Community Engagement grantee partnerships to learn more about what has made their partnerships successful from the very beginning. Both partnerships will discuss:

- How they initially came together
- How they worked to create a project while formalizing their partnership
- What drew them to collaborate
- Key elements that have kept their partnership effective and sustainable

The timing of this Forum is ideal, because we will soon be launching our next Community Engagement and Health Equity Pilot Grants, so interested attendees will gain valuable insights from the partnerships’ experiences, including:

- How they defined their community and identified project priorities
- How they adjusted their approach during the pilot grant
- The most beneficial expertise from both the community and academic sides
